CATALOGUE

OF THE

Numismatic Collections

OF MESSRS.

A. V. JENCKS AND GEORGE T. PAINE,

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Mt. Pleasant, Roxbury, Mass. Nov. 14, 1866.

Concerning the following Catalogue I have only to say that it comprises the entire collections of the gentlemen named as its owners; and furthermore that, with a few exceptions, all the pieces described belonged in the collections. The exceptions alluded to are the coins near the end, mentioned as from the West.

In describing I have adhered to the standard adopted in my former Catalogues, and trust that no description will be found overdrawn.

My friend, Mr. Cogan, will receive orders for the sale, and execute them with his usual punctuality and care.

The sale being strictly for account of owners, I will, as in the case of Mr. Hoffman's sale, attend to any orders with which I may be entrusted.

W. ELLIOT WOODWARD.

MISCELLANEOUS.

1219 The Seal of the Treasury Department of the defunct Confederate States of America; the design, a Palmetto tree in the centre, on one side "Tres.," on the other "Dept.," around this, "Confederate States of America," the whole surrounded by a wreath of oak and laurel; brass, 36; the back of the seal is of copper, set in lead, the whole surrounded with a massive ring of brass, being of size 49; in perfect working order, lacking only the press. From a letter concerning it, I make the following extract;— "The seal was obtained from the custom house in Richmond, which was used by the rebel government for the accommodation of the Treasury Department, State Department, and for a private office for Jefferson Davis. It was obtained on the third day after the capture of Richmond by the United States forces, while the flames were still raging, and the streets were still filled with the scattered archives of the dead Confederacy. It was used to authenticate the official documents, bonds, &c., &c., that issued from the Treasury Department; its value and historic interest, therefore, will at once be seen."

2161 "A list of Washington memorial medals," by W. Elliot Woodward, privately printed; a descriptive list of 48 medals, commemorating the death of Washington; being No. 3, of twelve copies, 8vo. printed on English drawing paper. No other copy of this pamphlet has ever been offered for sale, and probably no other will be, as nearly all have been presented to libraries.

2163 A small coin cabinet, containing 20 drawers 12½ x 8½ inches; the cabinet stands 20 inches high.
